Important Note

Proper piercing aftercare is essential to prevent infection, reduce irritation, and ensure smooth healing. Healing times vary depending on the piercing location, body type, lifestyle, and how well aftercare instructions are followed.

Healing Timeline (What to Expect)

- Days 1–7: Redness, swelling, soreness, mild bleeding, or clear discharge are normal.
 - Weeks 2–4: Itching, tenderness, and occasional swelling may occur.
 - Weeks 6–8+: Piercing begins to stabilize but may still feel sensitive.
 - 3–6 months or longer: Complete healing depending on the piercing location (cartilage and surface piercings may take longer).

Aftercare Instructions

- Always wash your hands thoroughly before touching your piercing.
 - Clean the piercing twice daily using a sterile saline solution.
 - Gently remove any crusting using clean tissue or sterile gauze soaked in saline.
 - Do not rotate, twist, or play with the jewelry.
 - Keep the pierced area clean and dry throughout the day.

Do's & Don'ts

- Do not remove or change the jewelry during the healing period.
 - Avoid swimming in pools, hot tubs, lakes, or the sea until healing is complete.
 - Avoid applying makeup, creams, perfumes, or sprays near the piercing.
 - Do not sleep directly on the pierced area.
 - Avoid tight clothing or pressure that may irritate the piercing.
 - Avoid touching the piercing unnecessarily or with unclean hands.

Recommended Products

- Sterile saline solution
 - Clean tissue or sterile gauze
 - Avoid alcohol, hydrogen peroxide, antiseptic creams, or home remedies unless advised by your piercer

Signs of Infection

- Increasing pain or throbbing
- Persistent redness or swelling
- Yellow or green discharge
- Excessive warmth around the piercing
- Fever or chills

If you notice any of the above, contact your piercer or a healthcare professional immediately.
